

ABSTRACT

The number of design processes for fabricating semiconductor devices can be reduced by parallel connection of a plurality of unit bipolar transistors Q_u that are completely electrically isolated from each other in a semiconductor layer of an SOI substrate 1 to form a bipolar transistor having a large current capacity.